Question 5

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow:

Hundreds of years ago there lived in a small Italian town a business owner who owed a large sum of money to a greedy money lender. The loan-shark had raised his wealth through various dishonest ways. The money lender was a very old, unattractive looking person who always desired to marry the business owner's daughter who was like his own daughter.

He contrived to fulfil his desire by offering the businessman a deal where he would exempt the debt, he owed him. However, the catch was that the businessman would have to marry off his daughter to the loan-shark.

The businessman was miffed on hearing this proposal but could say nothing.

The loan-shark said that he would place two pebbles into a bag, one white and one black.

The daughter would then have to pick out a pebble from the bag. If it was black, the debt would be excused but the loan-shark would then marry her. If it was white, the debt would also be waived but the daughter wouldn't have to marry the loan-shark.

Standing on a pebble-strewn path in the businessman's garden, the loan-shark bent over and picked up two pebbles.

Whilst he was picking them up, the daughter noticed that he'd picked up two black pebbles and placed them both into the bag.

He then asked the daughter to reach into the bag and pick one.

Two immediate thoughts came to her mind - refuse picking up a pebble from the bag or take both pebbles out of the bag and expose the loan-shark for deceit. But would this save her father?

The daughter was naturally confused and looked very nervous. The only other choice she thought she had was to pick a pebble from the bag well knowing it was black and sacrifice herself for her father's freedom.

She drew out a pebble from the bag, and before looking at it 'accidentally' dropped it into the midst of the other pebbles. She said to the loan-shark, "Oh, how clumsy of me. Never mind, if you look into the bag for the one that is left, you will be able to tell which pebble I picked."

The pebble left in the bag was obviously black. The loan-shark didn't want to get exposed. He had to play along as if the pebble the daughter dropped was white. He was not repentant of his deed and unwillingly had to clear her father's debt.
