IV. Read the passage and answer the questions that follow:

There was a rich couple who was throwing a big new year party at their house. So, they went shopping at a supermarket where everything was of high cost and fixed price. They wanted to maintain their level of standard so they didn't mind paying for it. After purchasing all they needed, they called a porter to carry everything and drop it at their home. The porter, who came, was of an old age, looking famished, his clothes were torn and he looked as if he wasn't even able to meet his daily needs.

They asked the porter about the charges for delivering their goods at their home. The old porter requested for just Rs. 100, an amount well below the market rate for delivering goods at the couple's home in his cart. Yet, the couple argued with the porter that what he was charging was too high and finally settled for Rs. 40. The poor old man had never complained about his pitiable life. But his life continued to be full of struggle. He found it so difficult to arrange for even one time's meal. So, he needed anything he could earn.

The couple was very happy thinking how well they bargained with the poor porter and paid him Rs. 40 in advance and left after giving the porter their address for delivery. They reached their home early and waited for the arrival of their goods. An hour passed but the porter did not arrive with their stuff. Though they turned impatient, they thought of waiting for another hour. The porter did not turn up.

The wife got very angry and grumbled, "What a big mistake it was to trust that cunning old fellow! Such a person who is not even able to earn to feed himself for one time in a day, we have handed him everything we purchased for our big party! I will go to the police station to file a complaint against him. I am sure, instead of delivering at our home, he must have disappeared with everything. We must go back forthwith to the market to inquire."

They both left for the market. On their way near the market, they saw another porter. They stopped him to inquire about the old porter and noticed that he was carrying their stuff in his cart. The angry wife asked him, "Where is that old thief? This is our stuff and he was supposed to deliver it. It seems you poor thieves are stealing our stuff and going to sell it.”

The porter replied, “Madam, please calm down. That poor old man was sick since last month. He wasn’t able to earn enough to even have a single meal of the day. But he did not lament for having such a life full of misery. He was on the way to deliver your stuff, but he, who was hungry and sick, couldn’t muster the strength to go any further in this heat of the noon. He fell down and while handing me Rs. 40, his last words were, ‘I had taken an advance for this delivery. You take this and please deliver to this address.’” “Madam, he was hungry, he was poor, but he was an honest man. I was just on the way to complete the old man’s last delivery at your home,” the porter said. Upon hearing this, the husband had tears in his eyes, but the wife looked so indifferent. She was relieved to get back her items.
